

March, 2026

Editorial Note

Dear Readers, Authors, and Members of the Academic Community,

It is my pleasure to present the March 2026 issue of the mLAC Journal for Arts, Commerce and Sciences (m-JACS), a multidisciplinary, peer-reviewed open-access journal published by Maharani Lakshmi Ammanni College for Women (Autonomous). The journal continues its commitment to promoting quality research and providing a platform for scholarly exchange across diverse academic disciplines.

As part of our continued development, m-JACS is actively inviting new reviewers and editorial members from various disciplines including Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Commerce, Management, Education, and Applied Sciences. Expanding our reviewer and editorial network will strengthen our peer-review process and help maintain high academic standards in the journal.

To further improve the quality of publications, the journal is strengthening its review and editorial processes. All submitted manuscripts are being carefully evaluated to ensure originality, academic relevance, sound methodology, and adherence to ethical publishing practices. Our aim is to maintain a rigorous and transparent peer-review system that supports credible and impactful research.

In addition, beginning with the current issue, all articles published in m-JACS will include a dedicated “Statements and Declarations” section. This section will provide information regarding authorship contributions, conflict of interest disclosures, ethical compliance, funding details, data availability, and the use of artificial intelligence tools where applicable. This step aligns the journal with international academic publishing standards and enhances transparency in research reporting.

The journal continues to welcome high-quality research contributions that advance knowledge across disciplines and address contemporary academic and societal issues.

I extend my sincere appreciation to all authors, reviewers, editorial board members, and institutional supporters whose contributions make the continued progress of the journal possible. We look forward to receiving more valuable research contributions and to strengthening our scholarly community.

Warm regards,

Dr. Sushil Kumar Middha

Editor-in-Chief
